

Towards Stockholm+50 Transforming Global Value Chains for a Healthy Planet and Prosperity for All

Wednesday 2 March 13.15-14.45 EAT (11.15-12.45 CET)

Our current pattern of unsustainable consumption and production is driving planetary, health, and equity crises. Stockholm+50 will accelerate implementation in areas fundamental to a sustainable future.

Around 70% of trade today involves global value chains that stitch together services, raw materials, inputs and suppliers across borders. The clock is ticking to ensure these production networks contribute to a healthy and prosperous planet.

This side-event co-convened by the World Economic Forum, the Swedish Environment Ministry and the 10 Year Framework programme (UNEP), focuses on sustainable global value chain initiatives as a key input towards Stockholm +50.

We will,

- Present Stockholm+50 as an opportunity for bold choices and urgent action
- Raise awareness of the important role global value chains play and its "glocal" nature
- Showcase innovative sustainable value chain initiatives and the important role of entrepreneurs
- Identify key levers of change

Welcome

Moderator Kimberley Botwright, Head, Sustainable Trade, World Economic Forum

Opening remarks

Annika Strandhäll, Minister for Climate and the Environment, Sweden

Keriako Tobiko, Cabinet Secretary for the Ministry of Environment and Forestry, Kenya.(TBC)

Panel discussion

- Ankiti Bose, Co-Founder and Chief Executive Officer, Zilingo
- Magali Anderson Chief Sustainability and Innovation Officer Holcim
- Tom Smith, Director, Global Government Affairs, Walmart Inc.
- Deborah Nartey, Research Analyst, Footprints Africa
- Policymaker TBC

Q&A section

Closing remarks

Izabella Teixeira, Former Minister of Environment of Brazil, Co-Chair, International Resource Panel

Join us at

Towards Stockholm +50: Transforming global value chains for a healthy planet and prosperity for all | World Economic Forum \(weforum.org\)